Miss Browning Fails in Test of Skill With Miss Cassel on Ardsley Tennis Courts—V oshell and Throckmorton Advance

MISS CASSEL WINS ON ARDSLEY COURTS

Defeats Miss Browning in Final Match on Turf in Straight Sets.

GIVES FINE EXHIBITION

Mrs. Morris and Miss Gilleaudeau Winners in the Dou-- bles, at 6-2, 6-2.

By EUGENE R. O'CONNELL. Miss Clare Cassel, Pennsylvania and Eastern States champion, added another up to her quota of tennis trophles yesterday when she defeated Miss Nathalle Browning in the final round of the singles in the womens invitation tennis tournament at the Ardsley Club, Ardsley-on-the-Hudson. Miss Cassel, playing better tennis than she has displayed in better tennis than she has displayed in the last three years, won the final round match in straight sets at 6—4.6—1. In the final round of the doubles Mrs. I. G. Morris and Miss Helen Gilleaudeau won in straight sets from Miss Florence Ballin and Mrs. De Forest Candee at 6—2, 6—2. The latter pair was looked upon as a sure winner because of the fact that this team had defeated Miss Molls Bjurstedt, the national champion, and Mrs. S. F. Weaver in the semi-final round on Friday. Mrs. Weaver and W. round on Friday. Mrs. Weaver and W. A. Campbell won the mixed doubles, de-feating Mr. and Mrs. Robert Le Roy in the final round at 6—3, 6—4.

Mins Cassel Plays Fast.

In the singles match, which, by the way, brought out the biggest gallery that has watched any of the play throughout has watched any of the play throughout the week. Miss Camel gave an exhibi-tion of fast tennis play from the very beginning. Her'all around tennis was better than any that had been seen in the Ardsley tournament this year and for that matter a whole lot better than any that has been seen in any of the women's tournaments in the metropoli-tan district.

Miss Cassel, was playing the kind of tennis that has won her many tourna-ments in the past and which is sure to win many another tournament in the fu-ture. It was the type of tennis that might have given the redoubtable Miss Bjurstedt, Mary Browne or Mrs. May Suiten Bundy, more trouble than they would care to bargain for. It was en-tirely too much tennis for young Miss frowning In Miss Browning's favor it must be gaid that she made a wonderful fight. As a matter of fact, she pushed the battle all the way. At no time during the two sets did she lose heart. The young Archley star carried her fight right to her skilled opponent from start to finish and lost many of her games by the narrowest of margins.

Miss Browning Fights Hard.

The match so turned out that it was all the better for Miss Cassel that Miss all the better for Miss Cassel that Miss Browning made as stubborn a fight as she did. It brought out all of the best tennis that Miss Cassel knew. She had to drive and place with power and accuracy to evercome the perfect placing and steadiness of Miss Browning.

That Miss Cassel was able to do it speaks well for her tennis. It showed Cricket Club starting Monday.

which will be held at the Philadelphia Cricket Club starting Monday.

In the opening set Miss Cassel lost four games, but in two of them Miss Browning had to carry the fight until deuce had been called twice before she won. In the second set Miss Browning won the opening game after deuce had been called four times, but falled to win another in the match. Miss Cassel had a total of twelve games and sixtynine points, against five games and forty-nine points for Miss Browning.

The final of the doubles did not bring out the good tennis expected by the gallery. Neither Miss Ballin nor Mrs. Candee played the game that they did on Friday against Miss Bjurstedt and Mrs. Weaver. Their teamwork was shabby and their individual play rough around the edges.

The winners, Mrs. Morris and Miss Gilleaudeau, on the other hand worked together as it they had been playing.

Mixed Doubles Starts Late.

Mrs. Weaver and W. A. Campbell won as if the match might have to be called the daylight saving rule has been working, there was not enough daylight left to shame a lamp light. They won their final match from Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy so quickly, however, that when they left the course there was still a little day-light left over. The summaries:

The winners, Mrs. Morris and Miss Gilleaudeau, on the other hand worked together as if they had been playing doubles as a team for years. They were all over the court, covering the ground at all times and slipping over shots that made Miss Ballin and Mrs. Candee appear to be standing still.

Stoddard will be remembered through his unexpected entry into the matches with England at Meadow Brook in 1913, when America won in straight games, 5½ to 3 and 4½ to 4. Monty Waterbury's hitting hand was injured in the sixth period of the first match and he had to retire. Stoddard was called into the same and promptly made himself a the game and promptly made himself a star at No. 1. He played in the second match, too. THROCKMORTON AND BROOKLYN BEATEN VOSHELL IN FINAL

Will Meet To-day for Metro- Pfeffer politan and Bronx County Tennis Titles.

Win Semi-Final Matches on Miller's Single Sends In Run Courts of New York Lawn Tennis Club.

Metropolitan and Bronx County tennis championship tournament at 3 o'clock on the courts of the New York Lawn Tennis Club, 238th street and Broadway. Both Voshell and Throckmorton reached the final round yesterday afternoon by winning their semi-final round on the team, around the four corners of matches in straight sets. Voshell won the diamond. from Francis T. Hunter, former Cornell | Clemons, the fat catcher of the Cards Star, in the upper half of the draw at 6-3, 6-3, while in the lower half double to right, and Shotton was nominated to defeat Elliott Binzen, Fordham star, at 10-8, 9-7.

Voshell Playing Well.

Right at the present time Voshell is playing as well, if not better, than at any time in the last five years and looks to be in prime condition to win the tournament. In yesterday's match the strong left hander was entirely too fast and too powerful for Hunter. Hunter played fair enough tennis too, but there was not a stage in the game when his play did not look weak in comparison to that of Voshell. It was the opinion of those who watched the match that Voshell might have won in quicker time Voshell might have won in quicker time and with a more one sided score if he had cared to extend himself. The left hander, however, although he maintains that he is still trying to take off excess weight, did not hurry around the court weight, did not hurry around the court as he has on other occasions. He had the upper hand from the start and seemed content to keep enough in the last half of the ninth inning Tuero was taken out for a pinch hitter. Schultz was the hitter, but he expired at first. Smith hit a hot grounder that bounded off Pfeffer's glove, and the runner followed this by stealing second. Stock came along with a single that sent stray bulldogs for every point. Throckmorton won in straight sets, it is true, but it will be noticed that each of the sets went to deuce, the first four times and the second three times, before being decided. The only discernible difference betwen the two young players was that Throckmorton was a little more brilliant in the tight places, and it was just by Johnston opesed the sixth with a clean.
